Public voices opinion on occupancy permits

By Bill Bagby

GRANITE CITY — More public opinion was voiced Tuesday night over a proposed ordinance which would require occupancy permits in Granite City.

About 35 people attended a public meeting on the issue at City Hall. Third Ward Alderman Brett Hanke, a member of the former planning and zoning committee who worked on the ordinance, chaired the meeting.

ALSO PRESENT were 6th Ward Alderman Woody Moad, another committee member; 1st Ward Alderman Casmer Skubish; Mayor Von Dee Cruse; and Assistant City Attorney Charlie Douglas, who drafted the ordinance. Members of the Granite City Board of Realtors were also there.

Absent from the meeting was 5th Ward Alderman Lloyd Bailey, the committee chairman.

The committee met last week, Hanke said, to discuss possible changes to the ordinance due to concerns voiced by members of the realty board and residents. Proposed were:

• Reprinting the existing housing code book, prepared by the American Public Health Association.

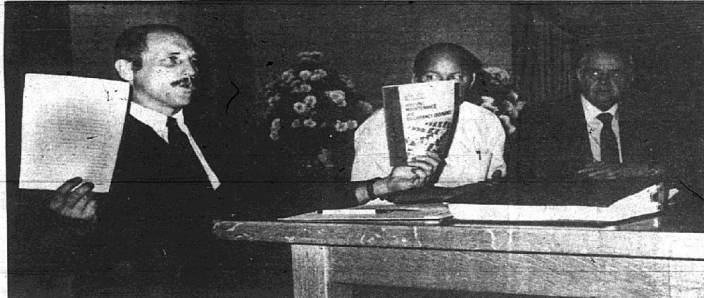

• Keeping the occupancy permit requirement, but inspections would be made at the discretion of the inspectors. This way, a permit could be granted by phone, Hanke said.

This will eliminate the owner or landlord to be present when an inspection is made or utilities turned on, he said.

• Including a list of standards in the ordinance for the denial of permits.

IF CHANGES are made in the ordinance, Hanke said it would be submitted for public comment before action is taken by the City Council.

Hanke presented some of his own ideas including implementing a citation system instead of the occupancy permits.

Under this system, the inspector would issue a citation to the owner or occupant of a dwelling that is in violation of the code. The citation would be a warning giving the violator a specific amount of time to correct the problem. If the problem is not corrected, the inspector would issue a ticket and the person fined the minimum amount provided by law.

THE VIOLATOR could either pay the fine or go to court. There he would be subject to the maximum fine amount provided by law, Hanke said.

"This would help clean up the areas of town that are a mess," he said.

Hanke also suggested a business permit be required for landlords of all rental property. The permit fee would be based on the number of units in the dwelling, he said.

SEVERAL AUDIENCE members voiced support of the permit saying it would help eliminate slum properties.

"I favor the occupancy permit," Skubish said, "even if it will take an army of inspectors."

One problem with the present code, Skubish said, was "lack of compliance and enforcement."

"IF WE DON'T have compliance and enforcement, things are going to stagnate further," he said.

Others felt the permit would hurt senior citizens on fixed income and could not afford to make necessary repairs or improvements.

"If we identify the problem as slum landlords, then let's attack the slum landlord," said John Blas-ingame, president of the board of realtors.

HANKE said it would take about two months for the committee to implement changes.

However, the council could pass the ordinance at its meeting Tuesday, Oct. 7, Hanke said. Hanke said he hopes the council will decide to send the ordinance back to the committee instead.

If the council passes the ordinance, Cruse could veto their decision. However, the aldermen can override his veto by a two-thirds majority vote.

"I'M HOPING Oct. 7 this ordinance will not pass," Cruse said.

He said he was pleased with public input at the meeting.

"Pro or con, I think it's good for all of us," he said.

Candidates' opinions differ on multiple-office holders

By Bill Bagby

GRANITE CITY — Candidates for state and county offices in November's election have mixed feelings about prohibiting a person from holding more than one public office.

No such legislation is being proposed, but concerns have been raised periodically about persons in the Quad Cities who hold more than one public office.

"Basically I would be in support of such a bill but would need to review the legislation in its entirety before making a broad commitment," said state Rep. Sam Wolf, D-Granite City, who is running for re-election.

"I AM opposed to any one person to hold more than one public office," said Wolf's Republican opponent Kevin Sykes. "Once elected by the people for a specific office, he must give 100 percent to that office."

"I have always been against 'double-dipping,'" said Jerry Cosentino, Democratic candidate for state treasurer. "Where the constitution permits such legislation, I would fully support it."

Some, however, were more cautious about the results if such legislation was proposed and passed.

"A blanket law prohibiting persons from holding more than one elected office could raise more problems than it solves, besides being of dubious constitutionality," said state Sen. Sam Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, also running for re-election.

HOWEVER, Vadalabene added a person should not hold more than one office if "a conflict of interest is involved or defined duties cannot be fulfilled performed."

Other candidates thought the decision should be made by the voters.

"We are a government of the people, by the people, for the people," said Frank Laub, Democratic candidate for the Madison County Board. "Let the people decide whether they want a person to serve in multiple offices."

"THE ISSUE should be decided by the individual voter," said Michael J. Howlett Jr., Solidarity Party candidate for lieutenant governor. "I have no fear of an informed electorate."

"Whether a person should be allowed to hold more than one elective office is a question to be answered by the voting public," said Democrat Bob Churchich, candidate for Madison County sheriff. "It is within the right of the people to give

Thinks fire was arson

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Arson is suspected in a fire Tuesday that extensively damaged the Neighborhood Barber Shop, 1405 25th St.

Granite City detectives are investigating the blaze, which did an estimated $10,000 damage to the building and its contents, city firefighters said.

THE FIRE started about 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 30. It is believed two youths used a lighted match to ignite some papers and set a stairwell afire in a basement storage area on the east corner of the building, firemen said. The fire spread up the wall and into the barber shop.

The building is owned by Joe Stemmer who lives in California, authorities said.

Detective Mike Chosich, who is investigating the fire, said there are numerous things investigators look for to determine if a fire was arson, including uneven burning patterns and areas of heavy charring.

THE EARLY moments of a fire can also be important in determining the cause, Chosich said. The col-

Magazine article about District 9

By Dave Gosnell

GRANITE CITY — An article concerning District 9 Board of Education's use of executive session appeared in the Legal Briefs section of the fall issue of Illinois Publisher magazine.

The article quotes a state Board of Elections official as saying that, despite being warned by the official that using an executive session for a citizen's committee report was "ill-advised," the board held the executive session.

"We told them it was ill-advised to have the executive session. Having the four businessmen in the session in a gray area of the (Open Meetings Act) law," the official, Leo Henessey, reportedly said.

The committee, comprised of four area businessmen, was formed during the controversy surrounding some members of the board and then-superintendent Max Redmond.

Their findings on the controversy were presented to the board in executive session and revealed to the public after Redmond resigned in July.

Henessey observed several Board of Education meetings during the summer.

Money flow to keep canal flowing

By Dave Gosnell

Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The effect of the Build Illinois program on the Metro East Sanitary District was reviewed Tuesday by Lt. Gov. George Ryan.

MESD Director Shang Greathouse praised the program as Ryan, one of the program's administrators, stopped in the area.

A $500,000 Build Illinois allocation was given to the MESD this year to enlarge and clean the Cahokia Canal, a major flood control canal.

Greathouse said, without the Build Illinois money, the canal would remain partially clogged with vegetation and would not be able to handle water runoff in several key locations.

He also said clearing the canal near Interstate 255 will stop flooding near the new interstate and open the area for development.

"THERE'S NO WAY we could do this kind of stuff" without the money, said Greathouse.

The canal, which flows south toward Horseshoe Lake and starts north of Interstate 270, is being cleared, widened and deepened by the MESD using the Build Illinois money.

It is the type of project that was envisioned for Build Illinois, said Ryan, who met with Greathouse at the MESD office in Granite City.

"IT'S EXACTLY what this program is all about," said Ryan.

The first phase of the project will make the canal seven-feet deep and 18-feet wide for a three-mile strip between State Aid 35 and Illinois 162 and another two-mile area between Illinois 162 and I-270.

The second phase will enlarge the canal to the East St. Louis pumping station.

THE PROJECT'S main purpose is to allow more water to flow from low-lying farmland north of Illinois 162, which often floods, to flood gates on the south side of Horseshoe Lake.

The extra water will eventually make its way into the Mississippi River at East St. Louis.

"It should give a lot of relief to these guys up there," Greathouse said.

But the increased flow to the south may cause sporadic flooding of farmland near National City, Greathouse said.

"THEY KNOW THAT," he said of the farmers in that area.

Greathouse said opening the canal will not mean the extra water will cause the water level of Horseshoe Lake to rise and cause the Nameeki Ditch flowing from Granite City to overflow its banks.

"It won't back up into that at all," he said.

MESD's involvement in the project is expected to save the state about $1.3 million, said Greathouse. The cost is expected to be about $1.5 million; $1 million in Build Illinois funds and $500,000 in labor and materials from MESD.

A STRIP OF THE Cahokia Canal near Granite City has been widened and deepened using Build Illinois money.

LEGISLATION recently introduced in the Illinois House by Rep. Sam Wolf, D-Granite City, would grant another $500,000 to the canal project.

At the MESD office, Greathouse, Wolf and Sen. Sam Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, who also supports the project, were told by Ryan that he would support the funding if passed by the Legislature.

Greathouse took Ryan, Vadalabene and Wolf on a "before and after" tour of the canal.

"I just wanted you to know we are doing this judiciously," Greathouse said to Ryan.

City OKs $1,250,527 McKinley Bridge budget

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

VENICE — A $1,250,527 operating and maintenance budget for the McKinley Bridge was adopted in final form Tuesday night by the City Council.

The new budget projected for the period Oct. 1, 1986, through Sept. 30, 1987, shows an increase of $130,890 greater than the 1985-86 figure of $1,119,637.

LARGEST INCREASE in the individual budget line items is for insurance coverage, which shows monthly premiums of $15,000, or a yearly total of $180,000.

Monthly rates for liability and property damage insurance in the previous budget amounted to $6,000 per month, or $72,000 a year.

When a preliminary review of the new budget was presented in June, Bridge Manager Tom Fields said, "We are in the same situation as everyone else when it comes to insurance."

FIELDS WAS referring to the huge increase in projected costs of property damage and liability premiums required for daily operations of a toll bridge.

A special projects fund of $300,000 added to last year's budget for the first time with approval of the bonding company, remains in the new document at the same level.

"Last year, we added $300,000 for work we needed to do this year and we had one (budget) includes $300,000 for projects scheduled next year," Fields said.

TOTAL OPERATING expenses in the 1986-87 budget, amounting to $288,263, are $8,148 more than the previous $280,115 figure.

This segment of the budget includes expenses for the chief toll collector, 12 other toll collectors, automatic toll rent, fuel, light, water, telephone, supplies and printing, clearing roadways and miscellaneous operations.

Maintenance expenses, listed at $383,000, are $2,490 more than last year's $380,510 and include funds for three maintenance workers, bridge and buildings upkeep, equipment and the $300,000 special projects fund.

MAINTENANCE expenses are higher in both October and May, according to a month-by-month projection.

A painting reserve fund of $60,000 is $2,400 more than the $57,600 figure listed in 1985-86 document.

General and administrative expenses, amounting to $519,264 in the new budget, include office salaries, consulting engineers, highway consultant, attorney and auditing fees, plus insurance, taxes, social security and hospitalization.

EXPENSES in this segment of the document are $117,872 greater than last year.

As the bridge manager noted, the largest increase in the line items is reflected in the $180,000 budgeted for insurance premiums, up $108,000 from 1985-86.

The McKinley Bridge budget is prepared in cooperation with the consulting engineering firm of Hardisty & Hanover of New York.

At Tuesday's meeting, expenses of $2,547 submitted by Hardisty & Hanover were approved for payment from the McKinley Bridge Replacement and Improvement Fund.

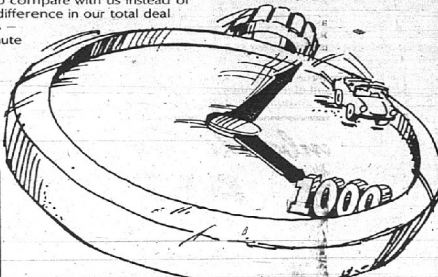

Approved from the same fund also was payment of a $35,477 bill from J. J. Alberici Co. for work projects completed on the city-owned toll bridge.

Carey would close area legal offices

What is the future of the Granite City office of the attorney general? Uncertain if Bernard Carey, Republican candidate, is elected Nov. 4. He has demanded the Democratic incumbent, Attorney General Neil Hartigan, immediately begin closing the 19 regional offices around the state.

Carey charged that the offices are a "political waste of taxpayer dollars and a duplication of existing state services."

"My opponent established these offices more than three years ago when he began laying his political groundwork to run for governor," said Carey. "He temporarily put aside his ambitions to run for governor months ago and now it is time to stop wasting tax dollars on these offices."

Carey contended Hartigan is "attempting to turn the office into an elected social service agency instead of dealing with the major law enforcement and legal problems for which the office of attorney general was established."

Carey has called for statewide grand jury powers for the attorney general to permit investigation of multi-county drug trafficking, toxic waste dumping and child pornography.

Carey toured a half dozen of the regional offices to detail his demands to close the offices, which he said were established in part with a more than $4.3 million increase in funding for the attorney general's office in fiscal 1985.

"The regional office spending spree is only part of the wild spending that has gripped the incumbent since he assumed the office. During his term, the budget has increased by 50 percent with much of the increase being used to duplicate services available in other state agencies."

Carey said he spent more than a month visiting state's attorneys, Republican party leaders, and residents. He concluded that prior to the regional offices, many of the problems handled there had been investigated by local prosecutors or other state agencies.

"Existing agencies handling problems taken to the regional offices include the Governor's Office of Consumer Services, the Lt. Governor's Division on Senior Citizens, the Department on Aging, the State Department of Revenue, the Department of Public Aid and others. Virtually every major state agency has some type of division to handle the types of consumer problems now getting major attention and millions of dollars through the attorney general's office."

"At a time when our state revenues are stretched to the limit of spending, we simply cannot afford to waste funds in duplicating services already available merely to benefit the political future of the attorney general," Carey said.

"The attorney general's appropriations jumped from $17,514,100 in fiscal 1983 to $24,884,983 in 1985."

Carey pointed out that if he is elected and the offices are open in January 1987, he will immediately reassign attorneys to those offices to "serious law enforcement work protecting the rights and safety of Illinois residents."

"I propose to establish a 24-hour statewide 'hot' telephone hotline to take details of consumer problems from Illinois residents. Details can be forwarded to appropriate state agencies for solution, to state's attorneys for investigation or prosecution where fraud is suspected, or to a special assistant attorney general who would act as a circuit-rider visiting various areas of the state to investigate serious consumer fraud problems."

Senior lawyers honored

The St. Clair County Bar Association recently honored members of its "most distinguished" who had reached the status of senior counselor.

A senior counselor is one who has practiced law 40 or more years and has been a member of the Association for ten years.

Those attorneys in attendance who had reached the status of senior counselor were: Vincent Hatch, 1947; Marvin W. Goldenhersh, 1944; Associate Judge Robert Saunders, 1942; Bernard H. Bernhardt and Charles H. Stegmeyer Sr., 1940; Edward F. O'Malley, 1939; Sam S. Pessin, Frank T. Plattner, John R. Sprague Sr., 1937; Justice Joseph H. Goldenhersh and Rogers D. Jones, 1936; Judge John J. Hoban, 1935; Carl W. Feickert and Norman J. Gundlach, 1931; Walter E. Ackermann and Russell H. Classen, 1930; and Elmer G. Wehl, 1927.

In addition to recognizing the senior counselors of the association, the members of the bar invited the judges from the 20th Judicial Circuit, St. Clair County, and the judges from the Third Judicial Circuit, Madison County, to be guests of the association.

Justice Joseph H. Goldenhersh of the Illinois Supreme Court was in attendance, not only as a senior counselor but also as Supreme Court justice.

In attendance from the Illinois Fifth District Court of Appeals were Judges Moses W. Harrison II, Charles E. Jones and Thomas M. Welch.

Completing the list of judges was Bankruptcy Judge Kenneth J. Meyers and Magistrate Gerald B. Lockwood, a witness in the Operation Grayford investigation in Cook County.

The next meeting of the St. Clair County Bar Association will be held on Thursday, Oct. 23. The principal speaker for that evening will be former Associate Judge Brockton Lockwood, a witness in the Operation Grayford investigation in Cook County.

Rate increase by IP nearing

Illinois Power Co. filed rate sheets with the Illinois Commerce Commission on Sept. 29 to implement the first phase of the two-part electric rate increase approved by the commission on Aug. 7, 1985.

The rate increase is the first since January 1983.

The first phase is approximately a 9 percent increase and will become effective on Oct. 4. It will provide approximately $66 million revenue annually and includes in-rate base an additional $352 million of construction work in progress (CWIP) for the Clinton plant.

The second phase will also be approximately a 9 percent increase for an overall increase of approximately 19 percent.

Each phase of the increase was tied to achievement of a milestone at the Clinton power station. The first increase was tied to approval from the Nuclear Regulatory Commission to load fuel. The second 9 percent increase will become effective when the NRC grants a full-power operating license.

The Aug. 7, 1985 order also restructured Illinois Power Co.'s rates which will affect customers' bills in the following ways:

1) Increases the differential between the utility's summer and winter time rates, resulting in lower electric bills for the typical residential customer this winter.

2) Eliminates Illinois Power Co.'s rates for its low-use residential customers. The low-use residential customers will now be served under the rates for the utility's typical residential electric customer.

Under the rates effective at fuel load, Illinois Power Co.'s typical residential customers who do not heat with electricity should see an initial decrease of $4.84 per month for the eight winter months of October through May. The average summer monthly increase would be $20.57 under the rates effective at fuel load.

Approximate low-use customers who do not heat with electricity should experience an average winter monthly increase of $1.35 and an average summer monthly increase of $8.89.

Illinois Power Co. rates were increased last in January 1983. In a 1985 survey of the 50 largest electric utilities in the United States, 11 of the utilities had lower retail rates than Illinois Power Co. With both phases of this increase, Illinois Power Co. rates will continue to remain competitive with other utilities in Illinois, the Midwest and throughout the United States.

Continue federal court in Alton

There was jubilation in the U.S. District Court's Southern District of Illinois Aug. 29 when William D. Stiehl, Belleville, was sworn in for a new judgeship.

The expansion of the staff was expected to improve federal court services, with Chief District Judge James L. Foreman now able to spend most of his time in Benton, Judge William L. Beatty of Granite City presiding in Alton, and Stiehl on the bench in East St. Louis, where ultra-modern court facilities are being provided.

The joy has turned to sorrow with the rising realization that the judiciary plans to phase out Alton services and concentrate them in East St. Louis.

The plan is being opposed by an Alton lawyer and Madison County Board member. Citing many persons' fear of street crime in East St. Louis, William Haine will ask the County Board to take a stand Oct. 15. His resolution calls for intervention by U.S. senators and congressmen.

Aside from the murder and robbery rates, which Haine thinks might sway jurors to reach too-rapid verdicts in order to leave town before darkness, the transfer plan seems inappropriate because it ignores geographic factors.

It is a large district, composed of 38 counties, and the division of the caseload between Benton, East St. Louis and Alton appears to be eminently sensible. Benton is convenient to much of southernmost Illinois, while East St. Louis and Alton are situated in the two most populous counties, St. Clair and Madison.

The point is not whether it is faster for Beatty to drive from his home in Granite City to Alton or to East St. Louis. Jurors, witnesses, defendants, lawyers and the general public also are affected. Alton obviously is more accessible to the northern area of the Southern District.

It is good that the U.S. government has seen fit to provide fine offices and courts in East St. Louis, but their availability and use should not rule out use of good federal facilities elsewhere in the vast district.

Exemption for reporters needed

Recently passed legislation regarding jury exemptions for reporters and other press employees isolates the press as the only group not represented on juries.

Lawyers, doctors and others previously exempted must now serve as jurors.

Some argued the press should also be represented on juries and the press should be treated like everyone else.

The argument is understandable, but narrowly focused.

Many persons were made exempt from jury duty because their work was considered too vital to miss. The newsman also provides a vital role, but that is not the only reason he should continue to be exempt from jury duty.

Given a 12-person jury, which of the following would you most likely blame if the press suddenly begins printing inside information about jury deliberations in a major trial — the lawyer, the doctor, the student, the housewife, the factory worker, the journalist, the three businessmen, the two teachers or the janitor?

This is not to say it would be the journalist who provides the leak, only that he would be the one to whom others would look. In truth, it's doubtful a journalist would break the confidentiality expected of jurors. But the situation could create a discomfort for the newspaper reporter if his newspaper is in a competitive market in which several papers are trying to report on a trial.

Then there's the one-man newspaper operation. Many "mom and pop" papers continue to exist. If the editor-publisher was chosen for a jury, he'd have to take work time to beg off, or risk not printing a newspaper during the length of the trial.

There are many who disagree with the idea of an exclusion from juries for reporters, including fellow journalists.

But it's still seems best to keep reporters reporting on juries rather than sitting on them.

Berates county's slow prosecution steps

To the Editor:
While we were away from our home 15 months ago, a thief broke in and robbed us. Needless to say this was very upsetting, plus everything was a big mess when we returned.

Thanks to the very alert state trooper (who was passing by on his way home after finishing his shift) the thief was apprehended and taken to Madison County Jail. After several days he was released on bond and out on the streets again.

Five months went by and then they set a trial date, which was put on a continuance. Since then, it has been scheduled and re-scheduled, and re-scheduled again. Fifteen months have passed and we are still waiting. Our stolen items are still locked up in the state police vault for evidence. We are living in fear, afraid to leave our home (remember he is out on the street) for he could strike again. We feel like the criminal rather than the victim.

Our state troopers do such a magnificent job in catching these thiefs, it is a shame that all concerned have to wait forever to get the criminal tried. What is the problem with our Madison County Judicial system? Why do they drag their feet in these matters? Does anyone have an answer for us?

I wanted all of you out there to know that our judicial system in Madison County is not working for us. Justice delayed is justice denied.

M. L. HANSEN

Annexation key to progress, growth

To the Editor:
Being a Steelecrest resident, I have been following the recent articles in the paper over our annexation to the city with genuine interest. Since I've read repeatedly that I was not "informed about the possible harm and ramifications of annexation," it is time for this resident to comment.

I know exactly what I was doing when I signed the petition for annexation and I know exactly what I want. I am not confused, nor is my head spinning over all the financial and tax-related arguments being thrown around, most of which are biased in favor of the presenter on either side of the issue.

Keep your flyers — save your money — I am not interested. We are not shopping for the cheapest tax bill.

I signed the petition because it was the right thing to do for my family and the area. I really believe that people have got to realize that the city is the key to growth in this area.

Look at the bluff area communities and look at us. They are progressing and we seem, to buck every opportunity, which comes our way. Let's work together.

Finally, to refute the much-used argument that people in the township bought their homes to avoid the city, be reminded that Everett Steele was one of the few people offering affordable new homes in the area 15 years ago. He was building Steelecrest, so this is where we located. The township had nothing to do with our decision.

"I don't think I'd like to go to East St. Louis to spend much time there if I was called (for jury duty) I'd go. There's definitely a fear factor."

Doesn't believe in Christmas, Santa

To the Editor:
Do you sincerely believe in the separation of church and state? Most will answer "yes" to that simple question.

The second question: Why is Christmas a legal holiday? It is a religious holiday that millions of non-Christians do not partake. The governments shut down, public schools close, and Christian religious symbols are permitted on tax-paid properties. Is this not a violation of separation of church and state?

Naturally, it will take an act of Congress to change the law. But who has the courage to approach such a change? I, personally, would like to see it changed.

I was reared in Christian home and am gentle. But we must consider the millions of American taxpayers who are non-Christians. Is this fair? No other religion is honored with a legal holiday. Then, why the Christians?

True, they are the majority. But being majority does not make a thing right. Slavery was once practiced by a majority of white Christians. Did that make slavery right? No. Until one man had the courage to see that it was wrong, was it changed?

We accept Christmas, the mass of Christ, as a family tradition. The celebration deviates from the true meaning of the holiday. It was brought from the old country by our ancestors and introduced into our culture. It gets bigger and bigger, yearly, with greed.

It's fast too commercial. Christmas, therefore should remain only as a Christian holiday to be celebrated in homes and churches in any manner that the Christian desires; but not publicly on tax-paid properties.

If we must have a holiday of such a joyous occasion, let's invent a holiday with no religious connotation that every one can participate. Christians and non-Christians alike. Therefore the merchants can sell their wares — even more so as more will join the celebration.

I advocate (OK, I'm Scrooge) doing away with the mythical Santa Claus. Santa Claus is a lie. Children are deceived at an early age to believe in a fictitious character who takes presence over the true meaning of Christmas. Yet, Christian parents tell their children this "little white lie" and it is accepted by all Christians.

Wouldn't it be better that the children received gifts in the names of the parents, gifts of love, than to receive gifts from a phony character who is far greater than God? The whole nation supports this lie with all the hullabaloo of the ushering in the Christmas season with the arrival of the fake creature, often sponsored by tax payers' monies.

Do you think Christmas should be a legal holiday?

If not, please write your congressman.

C.G. DICKERSON, Shrewsbury, Mo.

A response

From the editor:
Yes, Mr. Shrewsbury, there is no Santa Claus.

Millions of children recognize Santa Claus for what he is, a symbol, sometimes overblown by commercial hype, but nonetheless an embodiment of what is the best in all of us — generosity, love, hope.

I have not noticed government spending money perpetuate a belief in the patron saint of children, St. Nicholas, once a Catholic bishop. But I'm sure that if anyone sees tax dollars spent on Santa, it'll be reported and start a lawsuit — Santa will be shackled and a handful of persons will be self-satisfied. Everyone else will be a little lonelier for it.

Concerning the removal of Christmas, it would be too easy to use unkind words in rebuttal, but perhaps a few words of logic may prevail.

Government, in its wisdom, desires to recognize the historical significance of Jesus Christ, a person whose teachings have deeply influenced Western civilization for centuries. The practice should continue.

The teachings of Christ played a significant role in the development of this country, from its founding to now. His role is and was no less significant, and is arguably greater, than other men for whom there are also holidays in this country, such as the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King.

King, a minister, should be recognized, Christian or not. He played a significant historic role in this country's history. We remember that role with a holiday, and no less should be done in the case of Christ, as I'm sure King would have agreed. Both men were renowned as civil rights leaders.

From my viewpoint, Christmas can be viewed as a historic event and, as such, is perfectly permissible under the doctrine separation of church and state.

Nepotism a major problem in district

To the Editor:
Article Four of the memorandum released by the Granite City School Board stated: In pursuit of excellence in education, the practice of giving consideration to candidates from outside the district will assure the best possible candidate for a given position.

The District 9 board agreed, but acted otherwise and hired a superintendent and five inexperienced principals from within the district, if not current employees then past employees.

Paying the new principals a salary equal to the salary of past administrators is a message to the other school district employees that the board coifers are full. If not that, then it's a message to the public: If you were dissatisfied with the board in the past, watch the future.

I still remember the recent bond issue to save the school district from bankruptcy.

One important area that the citizens committee did not address was the subject of nepotism. It is a simple matter to match the school district employees' relationship, past or present school board members or area politicians.

Nepotism is a reverse pursuit of excellence in education. I feel mortified when I remind myself that there are members serving on the board that I voted in. Never again, for sure.

Thompson wants more done on insurance reform

Gov. James R. Thompson, saying insurance reform legislation sent to him by the General Assembly does not go far enough, said Friday he will sign the measure and call a special session of the Legislature Nov. 18 to consider further reform steps during the November veto session.

"In my view, the bill contains elements of reform necessary to protect local taxpayers who — through streets, sidewalks, highways, parks, playgrounds, beaches and forest preserves — now face almost limitless liability without true fault as the result of years of judicial and jury erosion of proper standards of negligence," the governor said.

"Insurance and reinsurance are extremely difficult to obtain in these instances," he wrote, "leaving many units of local government with the decision to pay high premiums for low coverage or go bare. This is, to me, an unacceptable choice."

Though he does not agree "that the case has been made that this law makes bad law worse," Thompson said arguments have been made since SB 1200 was approved by the General Assembly for it to be vetoed, sign it as is, or even call a special session last summer to consider additional changes to the measure.

"Vetoing this bill would be like asking soldiers who suffered casualties in a pitched battle to retreat from minimal gains without reason before the next battle starts," said the governor.

"This is a poor military as well as legislative strategy."

Thompson said members of the business community, many of whom urged the governor to veto the bill because it does not go far enough — a position with which he agrees — should use "the energy and effort which went into the legislative struggle to make this bill better reemployed to the political process."

The governor, in commenting on the impact of SB 1200 on business in Illinois, also said the measure "cannot be deemed to 'reform' the tort system in Illinois in any significant way important to the business climate."

"This bill," he said, "will not lower the costs of or significantly affect the availability of insurance for business in Illinois."

For that reason, the governor said many who worked with him to produce more comprehensive tort reform urged him to call the Legislature back into special session last summer to obtain a better bill.

"I have seriously considered that suggestion. But I have concluded that no better bill can be obtained from the General Assembly as it is presently constituted," he said.

SB 1200 contains 27 articles that call for a variety of changes in Illinois insurance law. Specifically, some of the more important reforms include:

- Punitive damages will be prohibited from recovering damages if they are found to be more than 50 percent at fault in causing their injury.
- Previously, plaintiffs could make recoveries regardless of their degree of negligence.
- The doctrine of joint and several liability is changed to prevent defendants found to be less than 25 percent at fault from paying more than their share of the entire award.
- In previous instances, which are known as "deep pocket" situations — defendants found to be as little as 1 percent at fault could be required by the court to pay the entire award.
- Punitive damages may no longer be requested in the initial complaint. While the judge later will be given broad jurisdiction in determining the validity of such requests, current practice includes the almost automatic request for punitive damages, a process that adds to an already overburdened judicial system.
- Directors and officers of not-for-profit corporations cannot be sued unless their action involves "willful or wanton" conduct.
- All awards will be automatically reduced by the amount of medical benefits already received at more than $25,000. Jurors are currently prevented from knowing if a plaintiff has received any type of payment.
- Immunity rights for local governments will be greatly expanded, thereby reducing the liability system in Illinois in any significant way important to the business climate.

"This bill," he said, "will not lower the costs of or significantly affect the availability of insurance for business in Illinois."

In signing the legislation, the governor said a better bill should have emerged from the General Assembly.

"Challenged at the beginning of the session to provide even-handed leadership, they not only failed to respond to legitimate needs affecting the business climate of this state, but thumbed their noses at a real reform of a tort system badly out of whack by twisting the legislative process to close off hearings and debate in the House."

SB 1200 also subjects the insurance industry to increased regulation, to benefit consumers although the governor said he was opposed to these regulations do not involve severe rate regulations that have backfired when attempted in other states," driving the cost of insurance up and insurance companies away.

In this area, SB 1200 will:

- Require insurance companies to give 60 days notice whenever a policy is to be canceled or not renewed, a warning that also applies to premium increases of more than 30 percent.
- Require insurance companies to provide customers with their claims history record upon demand.
- Requires insurers to give the director of the Department of Insurance 90 days notice when an entire line of insurance is to be discontinued.
- During the special session in November, the governor said he will urge the General Assembly to consider several additional reforms, such as:
- Establishing a cap on non-economic damages.
- Limiting contingency fees that lawyers collect from settlements.
- Strengthening collateral source rules.
- Requiring itemized verdicts.
- Limiting the use of the "deep-pocket" doctrine in which a defendant is more than 25 percent at fault.
- Notifying jurors that if plaintiffs are found to be more than 50 percent at fault for their injury, they cannot make any recoveries.

With the combination of SB 1200 and the additional efforts Thompson outlined in his signing message, "the economic and business climate of Illinois will be further improved by these reforms, which are needed to keep Illinois competitive with other states and overseas nations," he said.

Business and several statewide organizations agreed with the governor's view that a better bill should have been approved by the General Assembly, his approval of SB 1200 and his call for a special session to consider further reform efforts.

David Vite, president of the Illinois Retail Merchants Association, said, "The reform included in SB 1200 offers modest relief for retailers against the rising tide of insurance premiums and lower availability."

"Rather than risk losing the modest reform included in SB 1200, retailers prefer to accept the measure as a first step in the long journey toward tort reform," he said.

Thompson's approval of SB 1200 was viewed as a first step for local governments by Steven Sargent, executive director of the Illinois Municipal League, but he said more could be done.

"We continue to feel that broader and more comprehensive changes are necessary," he said.

"However, the changes made in SB 1200 are positive. Viewed on the whole, the league feels that his legislation represents a step forward for local governments."

For park districts, which have been hit hard by rising insurance costs, Thompson's action was commended by Roger Tooley, president of the Illinois Association of Park Districts.

Wholesale gas rate decreases

Mississippi River Transmission Corp. (MRTC), a subsidiary of Arkla Inc., has announced it has made a filing with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) to reduce by approximately 12 percent the rate it charges its sale-for-resale customers.

The reduction, which became effective Sept. 17, is in addition to a reduction placed into effect on Sept. 1, and reflects the flow-through of cost savings attributable to the company's continued success in purchasing natural gas on the spot market.

Robert Trout, the company's vice president for rates, said the latest reduction will most likely be short-lived.

"The company hopes to retain this lower rate level as long as possible, but as winter approaches and spot gas supplies tighten, other more expensive gas will probably be needed to meet the winter load," he said.

MRT's sale-for-resale customers can take advantage of the lower prices to meet their current requirements and replenish their gas storage inventories.

The rate affects the charges to MRTC's utility and municipal distribution customers in Missouri, Illinois and Arkansas. The company's direct industrial customers are receiving similar benefits from gas cost reductions under separate sales contracts.

Illinois may get two of three top House spots

WASHINGTON — After several years of losing some key positions in Congress, Illinois might land two of the top three House GOP leadership spots in the 100th Congress if Rep. Jack Kemp's presidential ambitions open a door for Rep. Lynn Martin of Rockford.

Kemp probably would give up the post as House Republican Conference chairman, third ranking position in the GOP House hierarchy, if he seeks the 1988 presidential nomination.

As vice chairman of the conference, Martin is in a good position to seek a promotion from her GOP colleagues in the next Congress if the New York congressman should step down from the post where he presides over the caucus of House Republicans.

While Kemp's No. 3 spot may go up for grabs, Illinois does have a firm grasp on the No. 1 leadership role on the GOP side of the Democratic-dominated House. Rep. Bob Michel of Peoria has the top GOP House job as minority leader, a post he has held since 1981.

Michel and Martin appear to be sure bets for re-election to Congress, and Michel is not expected to face opposition for re-election as House GOP leader. But Martin's path is not as clear.

John Buckley, a Kemp aide, said a recent report in U.S. News and World Report that Kemp has decided against seeking another term as conference chairman is incorrect. Buckley said Kemp will make that decision after the Nov. 4 general election when he decides if he will seek the GOP presidential nomination. But Buckley said it is "likely" Kemp will run for president and give up the conference chairmanship.

"His thinking is that it would be difficult to fulfill his task or his duties as the conference chairman and be out there campaigning for the presidency," Buckley said.

Former Rep. John B. Anderson of Rockford, whom Martin succeeded in the House and Kemp replaced as conference chairman, set the precedent when he gave up the chairmanship during his unsuccessful quest for the 1980 GOP presidential nomination.

Martin said she is not campaigning for the job but would think about it if Kemp decides to give it up.

Martin, the first woman to hold a top-level post in the House GOP leadership, can expect competition if she seeks the chairmanship, according to sources close to the leadership.

Other potential contenders include two other House GOP leaders, Reps. Dick Cheney of Wyoming and Californian Robert J. Dornan. Cheney heads the GOP's policy committee, and Lewis is chairman of the party's research committee.

In recent years, Illinois has lost a number of influential posts in Congress. Rep. Melvin Price, the 81-year-old Belleville Democrat, now seeking his 22nd term in Congress, was stripped of the chairmanship of the House Armed Services Committee last year.

In the last four years, senior slots on committees were vacated when such veteran House Republicans as Paul Findley, Ed Derwinski, Robert McClory, Tom Railsback and John Erlenborn retired or were defeated.

Illinois lost two key committee posts in 1984 when then Rep. Paul Simon won Republican Charles Percy's Senate seat. Percy had been chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Simon had been chairman of the higher education subcommittee in the House.

The office of the late Rep. George O'Brien, the Joliet Republican who died July 17 of cancer, received a letter from Vice President George Bush's office addressed to O'Brien.

The letter, signed by Bush aide Jennifer A. Fitzgerald, said the purpose of the letter was to advise the congressman that Mrs. Bush would be attending a coffee in Chicago for Judy Koehler, the GOP Senate candidate.

Ted Cormaney, who was O'Brien's press secretary, said he knows Mrs. Bush is aware of O'Brien's death because she attended his funeral. But he said the letter apparently was sent to every member of the Illinois congressional delegation, and the vice president's computers had not caught up with O'Brien's demise.

Two months after the congressman's death, his office still gets occasional telephone calls and letters from constituents and lobbyists who are not aware O'Brien is dead, Cormaney said.

Chicago native Steve Trossman is giving up his job as press secretary to ailing Rep. John Grothberg, R-St. Charles, to return to the newspaper business.

Trossman, 29, will start work in October as a copy editor at the Herald-News, a Copley newspaper in Joliet. Before joining Grothberg's staff, Trossman worked for about a year and a half at The Daily Journal, a Copley newspaper in Wheaton.

Trossman joined Grothberg's staff in October 1985, only a few months before Grothberg suffered complications from experimental liver cancer treatments that ultimately caused him to decide against seeking a second term in Congress.

Gene Callahan, Sen. Alan Dixon's administrative assistant, is spending his "vacation" in one of his favorite activities — politics.

Callahan has returned to Springfield to work for Dixon's reelection. Instead of going off the Senate payroll and onto the campaign staff payroll, Callahan is taking the time off as vacation.

Callahan, who has a reputation for working long hours and rarely taking more than a day or two off, said he has enough vacation time coming to carry him through the Nov. 4 general election. He has followed a similar practice in Dixon campaigns dating back to 1970.

Reporters exempt from jury duty

SPRINGFIELD — Exemptions from jury duty for all but one profession were eliminated under a bill signed by Gov. James Thompson Sept. 24.

Jury duty exemptions in state law ranging from most elected officials to doctors, lawyers, clergymen, policemen, firefighters and postmasters will be eliminated effective July 1, 1987, under the measure, leaving only editorial or mechanical employees of newspapers still exempt from jury duty.

The same bill also contains a grab bag of other provisions changing the criminal justice system, including giving prosecutors the right for the first time to demand a change in judge and allowing the prosecution to demand a jury trial in prosecution of major drug cases.

Under current law only the defense has the right to ask for a substitute judge and to demand a jury trial.

The jury exemption elimination has been sought for several years by Rep. John Cullerton, D-Chicago, who contended it made no sense that someone should not serve on a jury solely because of the nature of his job.

Cullerton has blamed opposition by the Illinois Press Association in the past for failure of bills to eliminate all the exemptions, so this past session newspaper employees were left alone and the bill made it to the governor.

However, the measure creates a new procedure in which county boards or jury commissioners can submit questionnaires to prospective jurors and excuse them for individual hardships.

It also makes it a felony to solicit or accept bribes for excusing someone from jury duty.

Other major provisions in the same bill, signed by Thompson, all effective July 1, 1987, include:

- Creating a new felony offense of knowingly putting substances capable of causing death or great bodily harm into any food or drug, a provision inspired by recent drug tampering incidents as well as the more common Halloween treat incident.

- Requiring the names of children who are victims of sex crimes to be removed from court file records made available to persons other than parents, attorneys or other parties directly involved in the court case.

- Allowing judges to impose extended prison terms against persons 17 years or older convicted of aggravated criminal assault on a person under age 18.

- Thompson also signed another bill affecting criminal law and procedures.

- Its provisions, effective immediately, include:

- Allowing child abduction trials to be held in any county of travel or association in the case, with the preferred county being the residence of the child's legal custodian.

- Authorizing the Department of State Police to share FBI information with state agencies and local governments, except for schools.

- Authorizing the state police to do criminal background checks on employees or volunteers in private organizations offering recreation, education, social or child safety services. The check will cover only serious felony offenses and reports are to be "confidential." It does not apply to schools.

ty, just as it has everywhere in Illinois. We're eager to bring our campaign to the people of this county," Hickman said.

Ephesians 4:6 — "One God and Father of all."

Our Scripture today states that there is one God and Father of all. Not many Gods. Not different Gods. Just one God. Oh, that here and now we could know this truth!

Here is a difficult lesson to learn: there is not a God for Baptists, not a God for Methodists, not a God for Catholics, not a God for protestants, etc. There is one God and He is the Father of all. Do you think He is pleased with us?

Often I enjoy relating to my congregation what I feel will be surprises in Heaven. First of all, we will see some folks we sure didn't think were going to be there! There will be some missing that we were sure would be there. I feel we will be surprised to find Christ so near to us that we can reach out and touch Him. He'll be close as we've wanted Him to be. There are going to be so many things to surprise us there.

I feel, however, that perhaps the greatest single surprise of all is going to be this: We Christians will discover we weren't in competition after all. There is only one God.

As laborers together in Christ, let us pray one for another and pray for unity among believers.

Let us pray. Today.

Business aids education, VLTC pupils to benefit

By Valerie Eyenden
Staff writer

Updating professional skills is important to any career and seems essential when one teaches business-education classes.

Innovative equipment and new technology appear in the business office almost weekly. And, considering the speed at which that new machines and methods become part of the daily routine, both business teachers and future employees must learn to adapt quickly, authorities say.

THOSE PROSPECTIVE employees include adult students at Venice-Lincoln Technical Center.

From the teaching point of view, Linda K. Svezia, business instructor at Venice-Lincoln, is fully aware of the need to get back out into the business world and see new techniques and business practices.

She seized the opportunity with both hands when offered a chance to participate in Illinois Bell Telephone Co.'s pilot Public/Private Partnership Program this summer.

SVEZIA HAD the chance to "roll her sleeves up and dig into the real stuff" for two weeks while working alongside Illinois Bell personnel in the company's Springfield office.

As part of the same program, she also spent four days in different departments at Bell's East St. Louis office and two days at the firm's Information Systems Department in Chicago.

The vocational-education teacher is excited about working with her own students this school year, passing on to them the practical knowledge she attained through the partnership project.

"I CAN TELL them things with more conviction. I know how this or that is done because I've seen it myself," she said.

In Springfield, Svezia was responsible for completing her own project and did not hesitate to work over time when she became apprehensive that she may not finish on time.

Terry Johnson-Cooney, supervisor of educational relations for Illinois Bell at the Springfield office, said the program stresses the hands-on experience and gives teachers a chance to work with equipment that most schools can't afford.

INNOVATIONS in equipment are the biggest changes that Svezia discovered in the workplace.

Some word processors are used in her classroom at Venice-Lincoln Tech but students also learn typing on older machines.

Although the benefits of the program to teachers are obvious, Johnson-Cooney said, "It also helps the businesses."

"For one thing, the program is a morale booster for employees. They get to show their talents and abilities and share them," the supervisor said.

"LINDA HAS been very appreciative," Johnson-Cooney said. Svezia was presented a certificate by Johnson-Cooney, stating she successfully completed the Illinois Bell Telephone Company High School Business Education Partnership Program.

A teacher in the Venice School District for 14 years, Svezia is now placing further stress on the importance of proper grammar, spelling, punctuation and teamwork in her classes.

THE PROGRAM also has shown her that companies such as Bell have job opportunities for skilled and lesser skilled employees.

"This [point] could give encouragement to those students whose skills are not as sharp as others," she said.

Svezia's participation in the "Update Teacher Skills" partnership program was arranged through a special contract with the adult vocational-education center in Venice's person.

Shirley Blasingame of the VLTC staff was project director.

The Public/Private Partnership Program is joint effort by the Illinois State Board of Education and the Il-

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Recently, a woman came to this office two years after her marriage was dissolved. She noted that many circumstances had changed since the finalization of the divorce. The woman now wished to move out of the area with her son. She wanted to know if the divorce would have to be obtained. At the time of the divorce, her husband was ordered to pay $400.00 per week in child support for their infant son. Since he was not making substantially more money, she also inquired whether she could obtain an increase in support.

In addition, the father was only granted 30 days visitation in the summer since he was scheduled to be transferred out of the area at the time the marriage ended. The transfer never took place, and she felt the visitation should be modified. Finally, she was dissatisfied with the provision of the decree which only allowed her to claim the child as an exemption for income tax purposes in alternating years. She noted that she contributed approximately 75% of the child's support, and she felt she should be allowed to claim him every year.

The question which arose in this case was what procedure should one follow when circumstances change after the divorce is finalized. The client in this case was advised to file a petition to modify with the Court. Regarding her desire to move out of the area, the burden would be on her as the custodial parent to demonstrate that the move would be in the "best interests of the child." In that she had a job waiting in another state, it is unlikely that the Court would deny her request to move. In the event of the child support question, her former husband was making substantially more money than at the time of the divorce. Since she could demonstrate a "substantial change in circumstances" regarding his income, it was estimated the Judge would increase the child support to $600.00 per week.

She was further advised that the father's visitation would probably not be modified. In this case, she was relocating to Florida, and his summer visitation would probably be continued. Finally, it was predicted that the Court would probably continue to allow her to claim the child as an exemption only in alternating years. Most Judges under these circumstances would not modify this provision which was agreed to between the parties at the time of the dissolution of marriage.

State is preparing tests on new teacher for 1988

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

How does one devise a testing program for teachers?

Very carefully. And with a great deal of input from experienced educators, the Venice Board of Education learned at its meeting Thursday night.

ALL NEW TEACHERS entering the profession after July 1, 1988, will be tested on basic skills prior to state certification.

The requirement is part of the Illinois Education Reform Act (Senate Bill 770) which was approved in July 1985.

Addressing the board members about the certification program was Irene Hackett, Orr, an English and language arts teacher at Venice High School since April 21, 1987.

WORKING WITH the State Teacher Certification Board and the Illinois State Board of Education, she has been actively helping to develop the certification test as a member of the Content Advisory Committee.

This committee has two members of the State Board of Education as members.

It is charged with recommending a feasible testing program, Orr told the Venice board.

VARIOUS TESTS from numerous sources were provided for the committee to review as it developed the framework and objectives of the final testing procedures, she said.

The basic skills test will focus on four areas — grammar, writing, reading and mathematics.

A second test will cover subject matter knowledge in a particular teaching field or area of special expertise, she explained.

"I CONSIDER the basic skills test the most important," the teacher said.

Classroom teachers, teacher educators, bias-control people and mathematics and English teachers are members of the committee, Orr said.

Results of the committee's work will be returned to the state board for review and then to the testing company, which will write the test questions in consultation with the State Board of Education, she said.

A PILOT test will be given entry-level teachers and those seeking positions who are completing teacher education programs at the end of the 1986-87 school year, Orr said.

The pilot test will be administered to determine the effect and impact of testing candidates for certification, she said.

Tests for certification after July 1, 1988, in addition to all other requirements, will be required for early childhood and special education teachers, elementary and high school teachers, school service personnel and those seeking administrative certifications.

MANDATORY TESTING of teachers certified prior to that date will not be required, Orr said.

Venice Superintendent of Schools Robert N. Vickers asked Orr, "Do you think after all this (work) that they softened the test?"

"I can't speak for the other 53, but speaking from my 23 years of experience, I do not believe we softened the test by the time we were finished," Orr said.

She said those on the committee had a minimum of 10 years teaching experience.

"THERE ARE certain things you know because of experience, but there are certain things you have to know as a beginning teacher," she said.

Orr serves as a vice president of the Illinois Federation of Teachers and is a past president of Venice Local 965, American Federation of Teachers.

Tuteur lecture Oct. 16

John A. Pierce, M.D., a professor in pulmonary medicine at Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis, will deliver the third annual Rudolph A. Tuteur Lecture Oct. 16 at the School of Medicine.

Pierce's talk, "Discovery of the Hyperventilation Syndrome: A Family Affair," is scheduled for 8:30 a.m. in Clifton Auditorium, 4050 Audubon Ave.

The lectureship, established to promote understanding of problems in caring for the chronically ill, is in memory of Rudolph A. Tuteur. Tuteur suffered from chronic obstructive pulmonary disease. His son, Peter G. Tuteur, M.D., is associate professor of medicine at the School of Medicine and a staff physician at Barnes-Hospital.

Pierce is an internationally recognized authority on the development of emphysema. He holds appointments as physician at Barnes and Children's hospitals, sponsoring institutions of the medical center.

Pierce received his M.D. degree from the University of Arkansas School of Medicine, served his internship and residency in the U.S. Public Health Service, and was professor of medicine at the University of Arkansas Medical Center in Little Rock.

Busy year for SUE predicted

President Earl Lazerson of SUE launched fall quarter at the university last week with the prediction that "1986-87 will be one of our busiest and most productive years."

Speaking Sept. 25 to the Faculty Senate, the president outlined objectives and gave updates on the status of important issues and developments.

Lazerson commended the faculty for the goals that the senate has established and indicated pursuit of these objectives "will greatly strengthen the university," but he challenged the faculty to propose "creative, new ways" to improve undergraduate education. He said a $1-million fund has been made available at SUE for this purpose, and proposals are being sought "to support excellence and innovation."

Lazerson said the university's operating budget is not as large as had been requested, but he said SUE received as much of an increase by percentage as any university in Illinois, and state resources simply would not permit higher appropriations.

Lazerson also said he expects a final report from the North Central Association regarding accreditation sometime in October. He said draft guidelines are being prepared for the vice president and provost, search, and applications and nominations will be accepted until Nov. 15. Vice President and Provost Barbara Teters announced her retirement plans earlier this year, to be effective July 1.

In other announcements, Lazerson said student consultants will be retained for two purposes: to review the university's graduate programs and to study the "perceived lack of space in university buildings." He also said revised review procedures will be announced soon by the Long Range Planning Council.

Lazerson said progress is being made in the planning of a new student information system, and completion is anticipated in about two years.

Lazerson also said all Illinois schools will get copies of the IBHE's recently approved report of the Committee on the Study of Undergraduate Education. The report makes 24 recommendations concerning three basic areas: student preparation and remediation; student achievement and scholarship; and faculty and excellence in teaching.

But he emphasized the central role in any issue involving undergraduate education is played by the individual educational institution — its faculty, students, administrators and governing board.

Reporting on new developments that will affect the university this year, Lazerson said a proposal will be submitted to the Board of Trustees this fall for a new telecommunications system that will offer major improvements while saving the university money.

He said the Illinois Legislature and governor approved planning funds for a new art and design facility on the Edwardsville campus, and

Venice-Lincoln staff to attend 2-day conference

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

Classes at Venice-Lincoln Technical Center will be dismissed Thursday afternoon and all day Friday while faculty members attend a fall workshop and conference at the Collinsville Hilton.

The two-day regional conference is being sponsored by Illinois State Board of Education and coordinated through the Southern Illinois Area Adult Education Service Center at SUE.

IN ADDITION to the entire Venice-Lincoln teaching staff, also attending will be educators from colleges in Belleville, Collinsville, Cahokia and Rend Lake and Kaskaskia.

They will be joined by others from school districts south to Cairo, according to Peter Pancer, VLTC director. More than 100 educators are expected to attend.

Heading the program coordinating committee is Duane Rankin, former director of VLTC who now administers the Adult Education Service Center at SUE.

KEYNOTING Thursday's sessions will be Dr. Rudolph Wilson, supervisor of Educational Relations for Illinois Bell Telephone Co. His topic will be "Education for the Real World."

Dr. Rudolph Wilson, chairman of the Curriculum and Instruction Department, School of Education at SUE, will be the featured speaker at Thursday's 7 p.m. banquet.

His subject will focus on "Networking." Several members of the Venice Board of Education are expected to attend the banquet.

SESSIONS on Thursday will explore such topics as:

"Reading in the Content Areas;" "The New Adult Educator;" "The Telephone Connection;" "The New GED and What Does It Mean," and

"Adult Education Legislation: A Historical Overview and Impact on the Future."

Special seminars on Thursday and Friday will deal with the topic, "Preparing for the 1988 GED." A series of projects meeting also is scheduled Thursday from 9 a.m. until noon.

Presenting the keynote session at 9 a.m. Friday will be Emilie and Edith Spees of Spees & Associates, who will review "The Dysfunctional Family."

WORKSHOP sessions Friday will give adult educators an opportunity to get the latest information on new approaches to curriculum and literacy and literacy interaction.

Other sessions will deal with learning disabilities, job seeking skills, lifestyle choices and adult education materials, organizers said.

Recipients of "mini grant" awards will be named at Friday's luncheon meeting.

State toughens stand on truants

Gov. James Thompson approved legislation to attack absenteeism in Illinois schools.

The legislation calls for school districts to adopt policies which outline appropriate supportive services for truant children and prohibits districts from taking punitive action against chronic truants until all supportive services have been exhausted.

It requires regional superintendents to collect data concerning truancy, and it changes the number of days a child can miss before becoming a chronic truant from 10 out of 40 consecutive school days to 10 percent or more of the previous 180 regular attendance days.

The bill was developed as a cooperative effort between the Illinois State Board of Education, the Illinois Association for Truancy Prevention and the Legislature. Illinois Reps. John J. Cullerton and Robert Kraska, and State Sen. Arthur Berman were the bill sponsors.

The legislation was based on the results of the 1984 report developed by the Illinois State Board of Education entitled, Truancy in Illinois Public Schools.

"Truancy is an education, social and law enforcement problem," said Jeffrey A. May, president of the Illinois Association for Truancy Prevention. "Children are truant from school for a variety of academic and social problems. For years, we have been trying to enforce compulsory school attendance laws without addressing the real causes of truancy. This legislation will insure that local schools provide the necessary services these children need."

During the 1984-85 school year, 103,548 children were reported as truant from Illinois schools. During that same time, 20,656 children were reported as chronic truants.

Research, including the Preliminary Results from the High School and Beyond Survey indicates that excessive absenteeism is an early indicator of early school withdrawal. According to the Estimates of the Dropout Rates for Illinois Public High School Classes of 1984, 1985 and 1986, the estimated dropout rate for the class of 1984 was 21.3 percent.

The new legislation provides the direction school districts must take to keep truant children in school," said Cullerton. "The legislature will now find the funding to make these programs work."

Students to cast votes for state fish

Illinois students in grades K-8 will get a chance to voice their opinions at the polls this fall by "casting" votes for state fish.

As the campaign gets into full swing, students will be trying to lure support for their favorite candidates from a slate that includes the bluegill, carp, channel catfish, coho salmon, largemouth bass, and the white crappie. The candidates were selected by the State Department of Conservation in response to a bill passed by the General Assembly last spring.

The election must be held by Nov. 15, but schools are encouraged to schedule it Nov. 4 so students will be able to vote the same day as other citizens in the state. Local results must be submitted to the State Board by Nov. 30, but results will not be available until mid-December.

The Illinois State Board of Education, which is coordinating the election in elementary schools, has mailed public and nonpublic school principals a packet of information containing all the needed materials to conduct the election. The packet includes a copy of the booklet entitled, "Speak Out: Illinois Fish Election," which contains the official ballot, as well as games and other activities for students to work on as the campaign progresses.

"The purpose of this election is not only to select a state fish, it is also to provide our young people with a learning experience about the importance of voting," state superintendent of education Ted Sanders said. "If, through this process, students learn the value of exercising their right to vote, they will be on their way to contributing to society as responsible citizens."

In previous years, students have been called upon to elect other state symbols, including the state tree (white oak), the state animal (white-tailed deer), the state flower (violet), and the state bird (cardinal).

No. 1 Flyers come calling for SWC game

By Gregg Ochoa

GRANITE CITY Some people have suggested that the best way to stop the East St. Louis football team is to hijack the team bus before it gets to your field.

While the Warriors won't go that far, Granite City will face its toughest test of the season Saturday when they host the Flyers in a Southwestern Conference game.

Kickoff is set for 1:30 p.m. at Memorial Stadium. Both teams are 4-0. Granite City sits atop the conference standings at 2-0. East Side is 1-0 in the SWC.

"They're awfully tough," said Warrior coach Ron Yates. "But we are approaching it just as another game. We want to go out there and play the game like it should be played, have fun and let the chips fall where they may."

The team's 4-0 record is the best start for a Granite City team since 1980 when the North High School Steelers won their first five games before losing to Belleville Althoff.

North finished 7-1 that year.

Saturday will begin a tough three-game stretch in which the Warriors must face the Flyers, Althoff and Springfield Griffin. All three teams were undefeated after the first month of play.

"This game and the next two will tell us what kind of team we have," Yates said. "Yates will not have to use a fire-and-brimstone speech to get his team fired up for the Flyers. East Side's reputation is good enough. The Flyers have won 44 straight games and are the No. 1-ranked high school team in the nation."

"Winning is not an impossibility," said a cautious Bob Stegemeier, the Warriors' defensive coordinator who must figure out a way to slow the Flyers down.

"They are very explosive. We will have to play a perfect game and East St. Louis would have to play less than perfect and make some mistakes."

Granite City has bitter memories of the Flyers. In the last two meetings, East St.

Louis has outscored the Warriors, 113-0.

But this year, the Warriors have been a surprise on defense. Granite City has forced an area-leading 18 turnovers (eight interceptions and 10 fumble recoveries).

"We've been very aggressive," Stegemeier said. "We've been stripping the ball away and playing heads up. That's something you have to do when your defense is not that stout."

Tim Hogan leads the team in solo tackles (12 and 33 overall). Eric Ryterksi has been in on 34 tackles (8 solos). Other leading tacklers on the Warrior defense include Tim Davis (31), John Kabbendjian (24), Mike Williams (20), Charles Yarbber (19), Bryan Dix (17), Craig Dippel (13), and Mike Georgeff and Steve Sutphin (11 each).

Granite City must contend with the area's leading offense (36.5 points a game). The Flyers are a balanced team. They have rushed for 955 yards and have passed for 775 yards in four games.

Quarterback Kerwin Price, a converted running back who rushed for 1,000 yards as a sophomore, leads the East Side attack. Price has completed 30 of 49 passes and has thrown for five touchdowns. Price's favorite target is Lawrence Moore (10 catches for 251 yards).

Granite City features the area's leading receiver in Jamie Hogan (23 catches for 355 yards).

The biggest question mark on offense is the status of quarterback Tim Hogan (shoulder). Hogan, the area's third-best passer, has completed 35 of 62 passes, four for touchdowns.

Hogan suffered a shoulder separation in the third quarter against Collinsville last week. He has not practiced with the team all week.

"We'll have to wait and see what the doctors say," Yates said on Tuesday. "It's responding to treatment and he's got some flexibility in it. That's a good sign."

Yates said if Hogan plays, he might see ac-

Some sports are TOUGH

When Evel Knievel was making headlines by jumping over buses and going over the Snake River Canyon on his motorcycle, the prevailing question was: Why did he want to do it?

There are some things in life which are great accomplishments, if you can endure. And I guess that's the great thing about them. Survival.

One such event is the triathlon. It sounds like the decathlon or the heptathlon, but in many ways it is much more grueling than those Olympic events. Triathletes start out by swimming for about a mile.

Then they jump out of the water, rest a minute or so, then ride a bicycle for about 25 miles. Another 1-2 minute rest is followed by a 6.2 mile run.

Just an afternoon in the park, right?

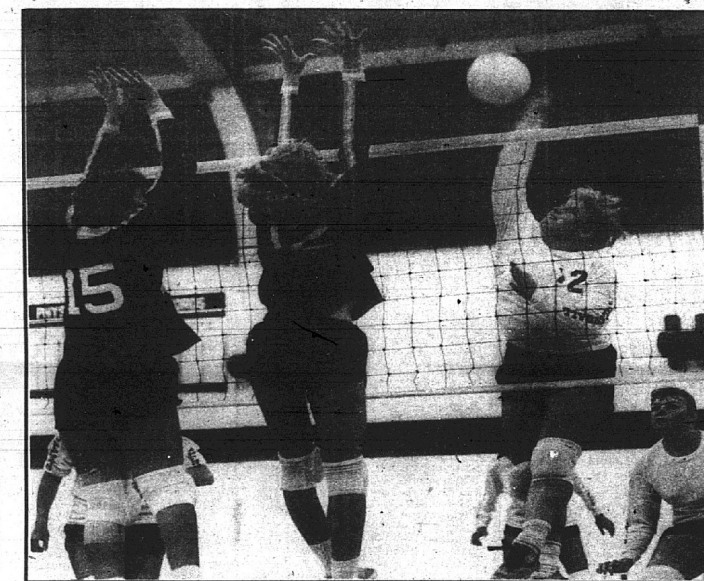

Sandy Schreiber, a native of Granite City, competed in the 20-24 age group for women in the U.S. Triathlon Series National Championship last weekend at Hilton Head Island, S.C. With approximately 80 athletes in her age group, Sandy finished eighth with a total time of 2:18. The actual distances were a 1.5K swim (9 miles), a 40K bicycle ride (24.8 miles), and a 10K run (6.2 miles).

"This is something I kind of stumbled into," said Schreiber, who is an employee of the Bethalto School District. "I ran track in high school (Granite South), and also swam for Fadden when I was a kid. The triathlon was just something that happened. This is my first year."

And she hasn't done badly. She qualified for the national championship by winning her age group at a race in Chicago Aug. 3. Her total time there, including four minutes, 22 seconds of rest, was 2:16:48.

Schreiber finished third in her age group in her first triathlon in Paducah, Ky., and she has been (See SCHREIBER, page 13A)

Warriors trail early; fall to powerful West

GRANITE CITY — Don Deterding sees improvement in his volleyball team as each game is played.

"We're making progress," Deterding said. "We are taking steps — granted they are small ones — but I can see improvement. I know the girls are a little disappointed because they want to take that one giant step, but it just doesn't happen that way."

The Warriors clawed and played hard Tuesday night at Memorial Gymnasium, but fell to powerful Belleville West in two games, 15-8, 15-9.

Granite City is now 4-5 overall counting a forfeit win over Alton that could not be rescheduled because of the Alton teachers strike. The Warriors are 2-3 in the Southwestern Conference.

Belleville West improved to 12-1-1 (4-1 in the conference). The Maroons' only loss this season was to East St. Louis.

"Granite City is a real scrappy team," said Maroon coach Charles Rodman. "They pick up the ball real well and cover a lot of court. They just need a little refinement. They are not that far away from being a good high school volleyball team."

The Warriors, however, dug themselves into an early hole in the first game when West stormed to an 8-0 lead on the serves of Connie Ballard.

"We've done that several times this season," Rodman said. "Ballard has a tough topspin serve and it takes teams a little while to figure it out."

Granite City scored its first point off of a Wendy Knollman spike and added another tally when Tammy LeVault put the ball away. A foot fault by West cut the lead to 8-3.

The Maroons quickly make the score 11-3 off the serving of Elaine Elser, prompting Deterding to call his second timeout of the game.

Granite City responded with Marla Toeniskoetter serving and cut the lead to 11-8. After Sandy Sternberg served the ball into an open area of the court to allow Granite to regain possession, the Warriors added two more points on Knollman spikes.

West, however, rebounded and won the first game 15-8.

Despite West's early lead, Granite City kept the game close. But the Warriors missed several opportunities to close the gap late in the match.

"We missed three serves in a row in the first game," Deterding said. "Against a good team, you just can't give away those opportunities."

Granite City jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the second game on spikes by Knollman. The Maroons regrouped and led 4-4. Sternberg, who played a strong game, saving several balls by diving to the floor, moved the Warriors to 7-6 with a good serve.

At that point came the match's most exciting point. Both teams turned in super efforts as the Warriors won a volley that lasted almost 30 seconds.

Granite City finally pulled even off of a spike by Lisa Mills. The Warriors, however, managed only one more point, a dink by Beth Earnsey, as West won the second game 15-9.

"This is the second time we've faced them this year," Deterding said. "We played much better this time out. The first time we couldn't return any serves."

Trojans' Homecoming to be fought mostly on ground

Dupo No. 2 Class 2A team in state

By Dave Whisley

Staff writer

MADISON — Buckle your chin straps and tighten your shoulder pads. The Dupo Tigers are coming to town.

The Tigers will supply the opposition for the Madison Trojans' Homecoming game Friday night Oct. 7 at Sam Dymas Memorial Field, and it doesn't figure to be one of those 51-45 New York Jets-Miami Dolphins aerial circuses.

On the contrary, the air forces will take the night off while the infantrymen battle it out down below. Dupo has rushed for 1,210 yards in four games, all of which they have won.

That's more than 300 yards rushing per game, and they picked up 332 rushing yards in a 28-12 win over East St. Louis Assumption last Friday. The Tigers ran 55 of 68 plays in that game — 53 of them on the ground.

"We can throw the ball if we have to," said Dupo coach Gary Mauser. "But we don't want to."

So far, they have had no reason to put the ball up. Fullback Ron Hunsaker has 408 yards rushing for a 5.8 average per carry. Halfback Derek Tieman has 394 yards rushing (9.8 per carry) and Derek's older brother Scott, the quarterback, has added 334 yards or 6.8 per carry. And the Tiemans have found the end zone even more than Granite City's Hogan brothers. Scott has seven touchdowns and Derek has eight. Scott has also kicked a field goal, and has also found time to complete 10 passes this year, three of them for touchdowns.

It's a well-oiled offensive machine which Don Smith and the Trojans (3-1) will have to contend with. But Smith thinks his team has recovered from the 28-0 loss suffered at Waterloo two weeks ago. Madison rebounded for a strong 30-2 win at home against Breese Central Friday.

"We ran our offense a little better," Smith said. "We switched some things around and ran with a power backfield some. Angelo (Cross) handled the changes well and had a good game."

Cross, who struggled a bit in the previous two games, exploded for 167 yards on 19 carries, including a

GC-Collinsville game washed out

Monday's scheduled soccer game between the Granite City Warriors and the Collinsville Kahoks in Collinsville was postponed because of rain. The game was originally rescheduled for Tuesday and then Wednesday, but more rain on both of those dates forced a postponement of the game until Oct. 21 at Collinsville. The two teams will play in Granite City Oct. 15, a makeup of a game rained out Sept. 11.

Granite City is now 6-0-2 after tying Quincy Notre Dame 2-2 in Quincy Saturday. Warrior goals were scored by Steve Becker and Scott Struck. The two goals by Quincy were the first two allowed by Granite City this year. For a preview of next week's Tournament of Champions, see Sunday's Press-Record Journal.

The Southwestern Conference golf tournament scheduled for Arlington Golf Course Wednesday was also washed out.

Rodman was impressed with the Warriors' aggressiveness. "We weren't going to take Granite City lightly," he said.

"We knew they have gotten better since we first played them. They took Althoff to three games. We were just able to run our offense more than they were."

If there is any consolation, Granite City's five losses all have come to teams that have put together good seasons so far this year.

"The girls are working hard," Deterding said. "Any coach likes to see improvement, and right now I'm seeing it. I just hope it continues."

Trojan kickers suffer muddy loss

By John Twombly

Correspondent
MADISON — Someone's going to be doing some laundry after the Madison-Civic Memorial high school soccer game played on Tuesday.

Bethalto beat the Trojans 5-2 on a rain-soaked field. Swimsuits may have been more appropriate dress than soccer jerseys for the match.

After the game, fullback Eric Ingram, forward Mondo Martinez and goalkeeper Dwayne Rodgers talked about the poor field conditions, as mud dripped from their socks and shorts.

"We all loved it," they said in unison, walking toward the locker room to get cleaned off.

"Man, it (the sloppy field) slowed them down," said Ingram, nodding.

"Yeah, last game we played against them, they beat us 8-0," said Rodgers. "When we were trailing 2-1, I thought we had a chance to win. We've lost four games 2-1, but this time our defense fell apart."

Madison head coach Gene Briggs agreed with Rodgers' assertion.

"On the first two goals we allowed, our defense was not marking players in the penalty area," he said. "When those guys (from Bethalto) netted, they're going to score. It's a fact of soccer."

Even though Briggs wasn't happy with the mistakes that led to five goals scored by the Eagles, he respected soccer aspects of his team's performance.

"In the second quarter, we held them 1-1 for the third quarter. And we scored two goals, which is our best production yet. I'm proud of the fact that even when they were losing, they were willing to work enough to get two goals."

Clarence Williams booted a pass to Martinez, who scored the first Trojan goal.

The Eagles, however, put in their share of scoring, making it 3-1 midway through the fourth quarter.

Just when it may have appeared as though the Eagles were going to put a few more balls in the Madison net, Martinez was pulled down by a Bethalto player near the penalty area in front of the Eagle goal.

Neil Huiak took the penalty kick, which went in for the second and final Madison goal.

Martinez and Rowdy Clayton earned the assists on the goal.

But it wasn't too late for Bethalto to score two more goals, giving Eagle head coach Don Woodell's team the victory.

The Trojans, now 1-6, play conference rival Highland Saturday. The game begins at 11 a.m. at Madison. The Trojans also play Maplewood of St. Louis Monday at 4 p.m. at home.

Trojanettes sweep Pioneers

By Gary King

Correspondent
MADISON — Excuse us, Carol Cole, but what's with all this talk about "looking forward to the Regionals?" After all, hasn't the start of post-season play always meant that a merciful ending was about to be pronounced on the Madison volleyball season in the past?

"These girls are different," explained the Madison coach, after watching her squad post a two-game sweep over the Assumption Pioneers Wednesday evening.

"They have to really be feeling bad for me not to be able to get them going. What we're trying to do now is get ready for the regionals. I know it sounds strange, but I really do believe we have a shot of getting out of our regional this year. That would be something entirely new for us."

Indeed it would. But if Wednesday night's showing against the Pioneers — who ousted the then-young Trojans in the first-round of regional play last year — is any indication of what lies ahead come

November, Cole may just have a point.

For instance, after falling behind the Pioneers in the first game of the evening, the Trojans battled back to tie the score at 7-7.

After maintaining the stalemate for three more points, Assumption's Kisha McKinney gave her squad a two-point lead when she dropped a pair of serves under the Trojan defense.

But just when it appeared Madison was down for the count, Trojanette Dezona Echols knotted the contest when she countered with two points, tying the score at 12-12.

Following an Assumption miscue, the Trojanettes went on to ice the victory behind the serving of Tammy Deal and some swift volleys from LaGloria Marshall and Charlotte Kullum.

So with momentum resting on their side, Madison continued to roll as Marshall and Alanna Brawley gave their squad an early 4-0, which they would never relinquish. In fact, Renysa Snowden's serve, which trimmed the Trojan lead to 8-1, was the only point Assumption was able to manage in the contest.

With her squad sitting on a comfortable 10-1 advantage, Brawley ended the annihilation when she rattled off the next five points to end the evening's festivities.

According to Cole, the improved play of the Trojans of late is a result of their decision to adapt, rather than protest, their new 3-1 offensive alignment.

"The girls have just decided that they can play this offense," said Cole. "We lost to Edwardsville Monday night and Wood River last night, but we actually played better in those games than we did tonight."

"Our passes are getting better, and we're starting to get better sets. It seems like it's all starting to come together. I just hope this continues until the regionals," Cole said.

There she goes — with that regional talk again. But based on the Trojanettes play Wednesday night, Cole might, indeed, have a point.

Teacher aces hole-in-one

Virginia Bozarth of Granite City shot a hole-in-one earlier this month at the Sunset Hills Country Club in Edwardsville. Bozarth, a teacher at Grigsby Junior High School, scored the ace using a five-wood on the par 3, 162-yard eighth hole. Witnessing the event were Judy Sparks and Charlie and Donna Bollier.

Advanced registration will be taken until 4 p.m. on Oct. 9. The fee is $4 for SIU students and $8 for all other contestants. An additional $2 fee will be assessed for those who register the day before the race.

There will be no registration on the day of the competition. For additional information, call 692-3984.

Schreiber

(Continued from page 11A) continued to improve. Sandy said none of the three activities of the triathlon are very difficult for her now, although she rated swimming as the hardest of the three. "That's strange, since I started swimming before the other two," Sandy said.

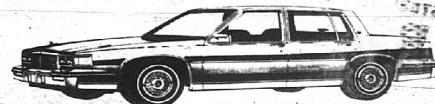

But for now, it's time to sit back and relax after a job well done. "This is probably my last triathlon of the year," she said. "But I'm thinking about running in the St. Louis Marathon in November."

After swimming, running and bicycling long distances in a span of less than three hours, that marathon in St. Louis will probably seem like a piece of cake.

73-yard touchdown on the opening series.

Defensively, Smith has respect for the high-powered Dupo offense, but he is confident the Trojans can contain them.

"They've only scored three touchdowns in three years against us," he said. "I don't have the size on defense I had in those years, but I still think we're a little bigger than they are. The key is how hard we play."

"Everybody talks about their running game, but they have thrown the ball against us. The Trojan defense also took its lumps in the loss at Waterloo, but some changes there have helped."

"I moved Bradley Papa inside on the line, and Larry Mosby is at end now," Smith said. "He did a good job there last week, and we think he could solve the problems there (defensive end)."

"After looking at the films, there were a couple of minor things that needed adjusting. Mainly, we just had some poor tackling."

"It's a big game for both teams as they head into the second half of the season, where playoff berths are won."

"We had Assumption last week, Madison now and Freeburg next week, so we're in the heat of our schedule," Mauser said. "I've been pretty happy with our play. We have a lot of juniors who didn't have much experience coming into the year who have shown more than I thought they would. This is Hunsaker's first year as a starter, for example."

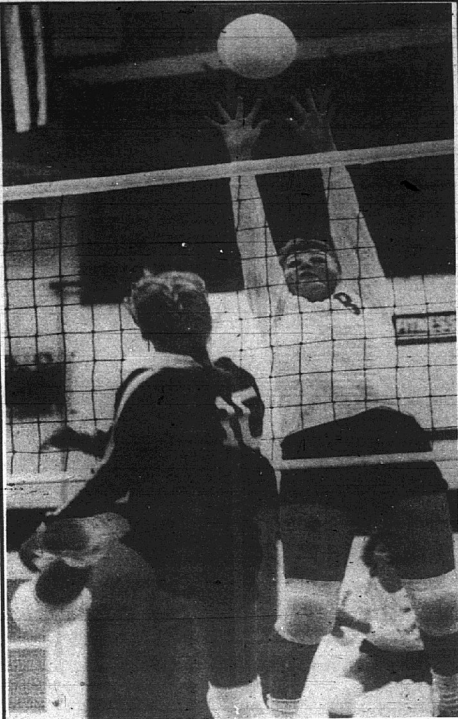

"And how about stopping Madison's offense?"

"We have reports that they are big and strong," Mauser said. "I know Cross is big and quick coming out of the backfield, and they have a lot of size on the line, more than we do. We'll have to use our quickness to win the battle at the line of scrimmage. And we need to shore up our pass coverage a little. This is a big game, but the key for us is to win our conference (Cahokia). That will assure us of a playoff spot."

Smith said the game could be a rather high-scoring affair.

"Their defense will let you score," he said of the Tigers. "It's just that they're outscoring everybody. We feel like we shouldn't have lost that one game, and I hope we have corrected what went wrong there. This is a big test for us."

NOTES: Dupo has averaged 36 points per game while allowing only 12, while Madison is scoring 26.5 per game and allowing 19.5. Cross is now the leading rusher in the area, with 542 yards for a 7.2 average. He has scored five touchdowns. Stephen Boyd is now second in the area in interceptions with five. Granite City's Jamie Hogan leads with six.

tion only on offense. Hogan has two interceptions and two fumble recoveries at safety.

Sophomore Christopher Bartling has been taking snaps in practice. Bartling replaced Hogan in the Collinsville game.

"I was pleased with the way he played," Yates said. "I know he was a little scared."

Senior halfback Paul Sutter also played well against the Kahoks. He caught four passes in the game.

Len Whiteside was the rushing star last week. He gained 83 yards in the mud, including a 44-yard touchdown run.

Defensively, Stegemeier singled out Scott LeVault, Georgeff, Davis and Dave Bamber as having good games.

"LeVault did a tremendous job in the rain with the long snaps," Stegemeier said. "Georgeff played well and Tim Davis played his best game."

Granite City has the fourth-ranked defense in the area, giving up just 8.5 points per game. Only East Side, Althoff and Jerseyville have yielded less.

Rainbow trout fishing starts on Oct. 18

Sportsmen may begin taking stocked, catchable rainbow trout at 34 sites in Illinois beginning at 5 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 18.

Fishermen must have a valid fishing license and a salmon stamp unless exempted by law. The Illinois resident fishing license cost $7.50, while the salmon stamp runs $2.50. The limit is five trout per day.

Licenses may be purchased at the Department of Conservation office in Springfield or the regional office in Alton.

Nearby trout fishing sites include: Frank Holten Main Lake in St. Clair County and Jones Park Pond in East St. Louis. The only site in Madison County is the Highland Old City Lake.

Dr. Claude Hiles, D.P.M.

THE SPORTING FOOT

Sports activities triple the amount of daily foot function force. They may magnify any structural problems or give rise to new ones.

The forces produced by running and jumping can worsen corns, calluses, bunions, hammertoes, heel spurs, sprains, tendonitis, and stress fractures are just a few penalties of neglecting your recreation-abused feet.

Have a foot checkup. Any disorders should be cleared up to offer greater comfort and better performance via optimum function. Minor foot disorders such as limb length differences can be balanced with prescribed fitted shoe inserts. Office performed minimal incision surgery can correct other problems.

Linda Kinser, marketing coordinator for the Madison County Employment and Training Department in Edwardsville, spoke about employment and training opportunities available for individuals over 55 years of age at the September Walk-on (Widows and Griefers are learning knowledge of necessities) meeting.

The focus of the program was the Job Training Partnership Act which provides classroom training, on-the-job training (full and part time), job club and placement assistance for those eligible. Each program prepares a person for a job. To be eligible, a person must be a resident of Madison or Bond counties and meet certain economic guidelines.

Kenny Muller, outreach employability specialist at the Illinois Job Service Office, said "Each person is assessed for eligibility based on the number of people in the household and the previous year's income; such income as social security is not considered. I suggest that you call me at 451-5756 and make an appointment so I can determine your eligibility for these programs."

Walk-on, a group formed by Thomas Mortuaries Ltd., helps people deal with financial and emotional needs brought on by the death of a loved one. The first Monday of each month they sponsor a Bereavement Self-Help Group and the third Tuesday of each month they sponsor a lecture on a subject of interest to those attending the meetings. Both programs start at 7 p.m. and are held at the Nameoki United Presbyterian Church, 1700 Pontoon Road.

For more information concerning this group call Liz Neeley at 876-4321.

Q: Our daughter, who is a high school student, worked at a part time job this summer, for which her employer withheld income tax. She will not have made enough this entire year to pay tax. We're wondering why income taxes are withheld under these circumstances.

A: This is normal practice for employers, particularly if their payroll is on a computer system. However, it is possible to avoid having taxes withheld next year if your daughter works again, and does not expect to earn enough to be liable for taxes. In order to avoid withholding, she should claim exempt status on the W-4. Employer's Withholding Allowance Certificate which she must file with her employer. She will qualify for the exemption if she expects no tax liability this year, and had none last year. There is one item of withholding, however, which no one is exempt from, and those are Social Security taxes which she must pay in any event.

Laureate Chapter meets in Troy

Members of the Laureate Alpha Gamma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met in the Troy home of Dolores Byrnes, last week.

Upon arrival, Martha Jean Dyer announced the birth of the day before of her youngest granddaughter, Ellen Riley Ogden. The baby's parents are Lynn and Bill Ogden of Worden.

The second announcement was that her oldest granddaughter, Laura Ann Dyer, recently earned a master's degree in mathematics degree at SIUC. Laura Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dyer, former residents of Granite City who are now residing in Carbondale.

Chapter President Jane Stevens announced she and her executive board will meet on a recurring basis, starting in early October. She also called upon Ruth Stoyanoff to give a report on the meeting they attended with Arlene Haldeman of Beta Sigma Phi's Coordinating Council for Granite City.

They met in the home of that group's presiding officer, Jan Monaghan. Among the council transactions at that meeting was planning a social get-together for members of all seven Granite City Beta Sigma Phi chapters in the 300 Room of Granite City Bowl on Oct. 23.

Delores Dorch gave a report on an outing enjoyed by seven chapter members and one guest, Frances Hartman, on Sept. 20. They visited several historic Saginaw homes, followed by lunch in a nearby tea room and dessert at a well-known south St. Louis neighborhood ice-cream establishment. Chapter members will gather for a potluck

supper before first October meeting

which will be held in Mrs. Dyer's home in Worden.

The subject of the cultural program for the evening was Charles Augustus Lindbergh and was led by Mrs. Dyer. She described his life, starting with his 1907 birth and subsequent education in Wisconsin and ending with his death and personally selected burial site in Hawaii during the summer of 1974.

Best known to many because of his historic, 33-hour solo flight across the Atlantic aboard the "Spirit of St. Louis" in 1927 which brought him immediate international acclaim, there is a locally interesting incident which occurred to him in Madison County only one year before.

It was during the summer of 1925, while on a barnstorming flight to supplement his earnings as a pilot carrying mail between Chicago and St. Louis, that Lindbergh when low on fuel landed in a farmer's field near Worden. To pay for the gasoline purchased at the local filling station, he offered curious bystanders who flocked to the landing site an airplane ride over the city of Edwardsville at a cost of $3 per person.

Twelve adventurous souls who overcame their apprehension rode in Lindbergh's two-seater, open-canopy monoplane. Mrs. Dyer found the publication, "History of Worden," published on the occasion of that city's centennial celebration in 1977.

At the conclusion of the evening, Mrs. Byrnes served dessert to those mentioned and Jean Forrest, Juanita Calve, Pat Teiglaroff, Lora Mae Lombardi, and Evelyn Tolliver.

Chapters host guest night

Members of Precursor Beta Gamma and Theta Iota Chapters of Beta Sigma Phi sorority held a joint meeting and guest night at the 300 Room of the Granite City Bowl.

Barbara Hente led the group in the opening ritual and introduced members and guests. She then conducted a presentation meeting, as officers and chairmen explained duties and activities.

Linda Koenig and Hente presented a program called "The Image of a Beta Sigma Phi Woman," and Hente led the closing rituals. In keeping with the international theme for the year, "Share the Dream," everyone discussed their personal dreams.

Prizes were awarded and refreshments were served as the group viewed display tables of sorority scrapbooks, jewelry, program books and other mementos.

Theta Iota members attending were President Joyce Alexander, Myra Polston, Jackie Arnold, Sherrie Shanks, and guest, Pat Clark. Precursor Beta Gamma members attending in addition to Hente and Koenig, were Betty Beck, B.J. Jones, Marilyn Lumpkins, Vickie Barth, Carolyn Walsh, Judy Broshow, Roberta Crawford, Kathy Nymman, and Carol Cathey and guests Carol Smith and Gladys Gumparkoff.

Knights of Columbus plan fund raiser

Illinois Knights of Columbus have set a goal of $1.4 million for their 1986 fund-raising effort on behalf of the mentally retarded.

The Knights' 17th annual Mentally Retarded Drive will be held the weekend of Oct. 24-25 throughout the state. Last year the Catholic fraternal organization raised in excess of $1,300 million for the mentally handicapped and this year the co-chairmen of the drive, Robert Hauwiler of Palos Park and Roger W. Hines from Marion in downstate Illinois, expect to exceed the 1985 record figure by 5 percent.

Since this fund-raiser was launched in 1970, Illinois K of Cs have raised almost $12.4 million. The K of C Mentally Retarded Drive, one of three statewide charitable projects promoted by the Illinois Knights, is supervised by State Charitable Director Gus Sundermeier Sr. of Oak Lawn.

K of C charitable statewide activities, in addition to the mentally retarded program include the Catholic fraternal society's Newman Apostolate Program established on secular campuses throughout the state, and a disaster fund made available to churches, hospitals and schools damaged by high winds, flood or fire.

Co-chairman Hines recently announced the 1986 MR drive again will be publicized by a series of radio and television promotions featuring TV star Bob Newhart.

The theme for the annual drive is "More Dedicated Hands and Hearts that are More Dedicated."

All the funds collected, less the 13 percent used for candy distributed during the drive and promotional expenses, are either returned to the community MR organizations and institutions or placed in a special fund.

Workshop shelters, institutions, organizations working with the mentally handicapped are the recipients of the fund. Ten percent is set aside to promote state-wide projects.

In past years the special fund has been used to underwrite the cost of a leadmobile that traveled around the state testing young children for lead ingestion; for the Illinois Special Olympics, Inc. summer and winter games, and other major needs.

This year K of C Charities Inc. is financing residential homes for the mentally handicapped, the first of which was dedicated Sept. 28 in Oak Park and in the near future a second home will be completed in the Bloomington area. Long-range plans call for financing residential homes in every major community in Illinois.

Volunteers from many of the community organizations supporting the mentally handicapped, plus students and members of the K of C families, will be working intersections, highways, and shopping centers Oct. 24-25 waving canisters and wearing numbered yellow jackets bearing the words "Knights of Columbus Help Mentally Retarded Children."

Weekly Health Tip

By Steve Burdge, R. Ph.

GOOD FOOD = HEALTH

Just as in the raising of a beautiful race horse or show dog, we humans must have a well-balanced diet to assure strong bones, muscle and teeth, glossy hair, energy and endurance. You cannot expect radiant health on a diet of potato chips, candy bars and soda pop or coffee. There are 40 essential nutrients that the human body needs to build and maintain the complex chemistry of our body. It requires milk (skim perhaps), fresh fruit and vegetables of many varieties, whole cereals, lean meat and nuts.

Three join SEMC staff

Three OB/GYN physicians — John Sisler, M.D., Norman Smith, M.D., and Darrell Ballinger, M.D., have joined the medical staff at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, said Steve Hunter, SEMC vice president of marketing and planning.

Sisler and Smith are 1982 graduates of St. Louis University School of Medicine. Ballinger graduated the same year from Boston University School of Medicine.

Sisler, a native Californian, came to St. Louis after earning his B.S. degree in biochemistry from Occidental College in Los Angeles. After medical school, he served his residency at St. Louis University Hospital, as did Smith. Both remain with SLU medical-school as faculty teachers in the department of obstetrics and gynecology.

Sisler and Smith are members of the American College of Obstetrics and Gynecology; the American Fertility Society; and the St. Louis Gynecological Society. Ballinger is a member of the first group.

Sisler lives in Brentwood, Mo., with his wife, Cheryl, who is a resident doctor in radiology at Jewish Hospital in St. Louis.

Formerly of Puxico, Mo., a small southeastern town, Smith did his undergraduate work at St. Louis University and graduated with a B.S. degree in nursing. He, too, lives in Brentwood, with his wife, Elaine, and three children, Norman Jr., 8; Andrew, 3; and Lauren, 2.

Smith and Dr. Sisler have an interest in external genital and inner abdominal laser surgery.

Ballinger comes to St. Louis from the East Coast, where he completed his four-year residency at Harlem Hospital in New York City. He is a graduate of Lehman College, also in New York City. He lives in St. Louis with his wife, Jovita, and three children — Steven, 3; and twins Darrell and Dionne, 2.

The three physicians have privileges at Centerville Township Hospital, plus Smith and Sisler have privileges at St. Louis University Hospital and St. Mary's Hospital in Clayton, Mo.

Their OB/GYN clinic is located in Suite 200 of the Center's Wing at SEMC. For an appointment, call 790-3700.

Lutheran Women at district meet

Over 800 members and guests of the Southern Illinois District Lutheran Women's Missionary League attended the 23rd biennial convention at St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Steeleville, Sept. 17. Theme was "Praise Him in the Assembly of the Faithful."

Attending from this area were Rose Kayser, Heidi Kling, Helen Reusser, Louise Davis, Emily Acola, Pat Cuvar, Lorene Christ, Evelyn Hotson and the Rev. David Raetz.

Pastor-Pilot Benjamin Christian Zimmermann was the featured speaker. He was the flight engineer on TWA Flight 847, the airliner hijacked in June 1985 to Beirut, Lebanon. He authored a recently published book, "Hostage in a Hostile World." He was ordained in the Lutheran ministry at Nashville in 1980 by his late father, Rev. E. C. Zimmermann.

In his message, he spoke of his opportunity to witness and share his Christianity while he was held captive. He challenged the delegates to their Christianity in their everyday lives.

Also addressing the assembly was Alice Cross of Spencer, Iowa, international vice president for mission projects. As a representative of the International Lutheran Women's Missionary League, she presented an update on current league activities. The ILWML has a membership of 200,000 women in the U.S. and Canada.

Jeanette Johnson of Nokomis presided over the convention, where officers are elected and mission projects are chosen.

The district has 10 societies whose goals are to promote mission inspiration, mission education and mission service.

Ruth Ann Arbeiter of Gorham was elected to a four-year term as president. Elected to serve with her were Vicki Day of Columbia, first vice president, Wilma Heller of Prairie du Rocher, corresponding secretary, JoAnn Dietiker of Staunton, financial secretary, Marlene Paulsmeyer of Centralia, board member, and the Rev. Douglas Nicely of O'Fallon, pastoral counselor.

The delegates also set a new record-high goal of $30,000 for nine projects which will be monetarily supported by the members.

Those attending took gifts of soap, shampoo or toothpaste to be distributed to the needy.

Diet and care affect your hair

Each new generation ushers in a panoply of hairstyles meant to enhance the identity of the wearer. Among them have been afros and ponytails, crew cuts and Beate cuts, flips, braids, shags and spikes. No matter what look a person prefers, the greatest asset to any style is healthy hair.

Following a few, simple guidelines will ensure healthy hair for most of us. Dr. Lynn Drake, assistant professor of dermatology at Emory University School of Medicine in Atlanta and chief of dermatology service at the Atlanta Veterans Administration Medical Center, talked about hair, and the loss of it, in a recent interview at Forest Hospital in Des Plaines, Ill.

"There are three basic elements to healthy hair. The condition of the hair really reflects a person's diet," she said. "A balanced diet provides the proteins essential to the growth of healthy hair. Next, I recommend consuming plenty of water, as much as eight glasses per day, to combat dryness of the scalp."

Last, Drake warns against over-exposure to drying agents such as electric dryers and curlers, perms, suns and wind. Daily shampooing also dries hair and scalp and should be kept to two or three times per week, she said.

"It is important to remember that if hair is damaged mechanically or chemically, it is not going to heal quickly. It takes time after an injury. Though hair and skin have many common features, in the case of hair, the best medicine is prevention. Oils and conditioners can help smooth and soften the hair shaft to reduce the effects of drying."

"Although we tend to think of hair loss as a hereditary condition men experience, there are other types of hair loss that also affect women. For example, alopecia is a disease state causing hair loss in round patches. In severe cases, all body hair, including eyelashes and brows, can fall out. A dermatologist should be consulted for the best available treatment."

"Diffuse hair thinning is an overall hair loss that exceeds the normal daily loss of approximately 100 hairs per day. This type of hair loss usually becomes evident after brushing or washing the hair. People will find excess hair in brushes or in the shower. This will lead to an examination of the scalp and hair, when they really notice the extent of thinning," Drake said.

"Many factors influence hair loss, but one of the most common is a sudden, acute trauma to the body. This could be a very high fever, a crash diet, a psychotic episode, severe blood loss, childbirth, or drug intoxication."

"This type of hair loss is usually corrected by the body's own recuperative powers. Even if the trauma still exists, the hair will begin to grow back."

"In the case of male pattern baldness, heredity and hormonal factors combine to promote hair loss. The onset of male pattern baldness can begin anywhere from late teens to mid-30s."

"Men have tried many cures for inherited baldness but without success. To my knowledge, there is no single product or drug that can be purchased over the counter that grows hair," said Drake. "But good news may be on the horizon."

However, the test should be carefully being tested and show promise in the treatment of male pattern baldness.

Pharmacies offer colon-rectal test kits

Approximately 140,000 people will contract colon-rectal cancer this year, but most could be saved through early detection and treatment.

AMC Cancer Research Center and Medicine Shoppe pharmacies are again joining forces to fight colon-rectal cancer. During Oct. 9-11 they will conduct the sixth National Colon Rectal Cancer Screening.

More than three-quarters of a million people have picked up free, colon-rectal cancer test kits during these national screenings. As a result, 6,000 serious health problems have been discovered.

When colon-rectal cancer is discovered in its early, localized stage, the survival rate is 85 percent. Unfortunately, once the cancer spreads throughout the body the survival rate drops drastically.

Colon-rectal test kits detect hidden blood in the stool — a leading indicator of this disease. The test can also identify potential health problems like ulcers and diverticulitis.

However, the test should be carefully considered a screening, not the final diagnosis. The test is simple and painless. Participants follow a recommended diet during the test period and mail completed kits to AMC Cancer Research Center for free analysis.

If a potential problem is detected, AMC will send another free kit to verify initial results.

Results are sent to every participant. Anyone with signs of a potential problem is strongly urged to consult a physician for a complete examination and diagnosis.

Medicine Shoppe pharmacies located in Columbia, Belleville and Granite City will provide a free colon-rectal test kit. It's a proven lifesaver.

Julie (Hay) Wentz

Veterinary school accepts GC woman

Julie (Hay) Wentz, daughter of Gordon and Marieann Hankla of Granite City, has been accepted to the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine in Urbana.

One out of every three or four qualified applicants is accepted to the college each year. This year's freshman veterinary class will consist of 80 persons.

Wentz has completed her undergraduate studies in three years as a Jonathan Baldwin Turner scholar in the College of Agriculture at the University of Illinois at Champaign-Urbana.

She is a 1983 graduate of Granite City High School North.

There are 27 veterinary colleges in the United States and the entrance is competitive. Illinois applicants are chosen according to their grade point average, admission test scores and personal interviews.

Though two years of coursework from an accredited college or university are required, most entrants have completed at least three and sometimes four or more years of college courses.

The four-year professional veterinary program at the University of Illinois requires students to complete coursework dealing with both large and small animals.

Specialization, if desired, does not come until after graduation.

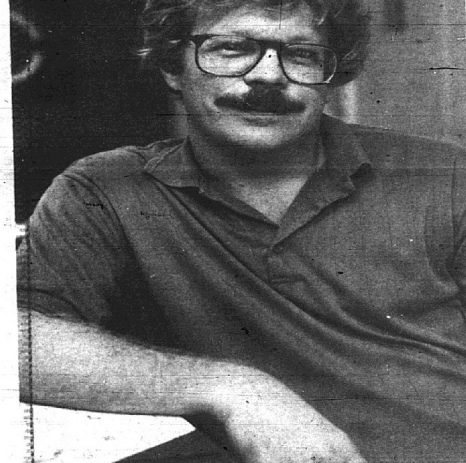

Before being licensed to practice, graduates of the College of Veterinary Medicine must pass state and national board examinations, school officials said.

Bob Turck

Wins paper contest

Bob Turck, a social worker at St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City, is the second-place winner of the 1986 Aaron Seidman Professional Paper Contest, according to Ralph Hausmann, SEMC director of Social Work and Center chair.

In 1982, Turck also received second-place honors in the same contest.

Turck will receive a cash prize of $50 for his paper entitled, "Social Work Intervention with the Sexually Abused Child." The award was presented at the Annual Educational Conference held in Allerton Park, Ill., on Sept. 10.

A member of the SEMC Social Work Department for 15 years, Turck received his B.S. degree in sociology/social welfare from SIUE in 1973 and, in 1984, completed his M.S.W. degree from St. Louis University. Turck resides in Granite City with his wife, Sandy, and his three children.

Naturelle Johnson, a prominent social worker from the Chicago area, the Aaron Seidman Professional Paper Contest is conferred on hospital social workers who have written scholarly research papers in the field of social work and health care.

The contest is sponsored annually by the Illinois Society for Hospital Social Work Directors to recognize excellence in professional writing within the medical social work profession.

Al-Anon and the Adult Child

The concept of the "adult child" is spreading rapidly and is used to refer to the great number of adults who were parented in a home affected by alcoholism.

With the need for these people to receive help in their lives with this experience, a movement to hold meetings for them has begun.

Al-Anon Adult Children's meeting will be conducted every Saturday at 10 a.m. at St. Clair Avenue and Maryville Road.

The first meeting will be held Oct. 2 and baby-sitting service will be provided for those with young children.

Unlike people not reared in alcoholic homes, these are adults who characteristically experience greater difficulty in their ability to identify and express feelings and to ask for what they need. They experience greater difficulty in intimate relationships and are more prone to experience depression, a spokesman for the group said.

She added, the term "adult child" legitimizes the experiences of such a person during childhood and encapsulates a description of his or her problem as an adult. As is true for the alcoholic and the spouse, the adult child is in need of direct therapeutic intervention and the opportunity to enter a recovery process.

The self-help groups of AA and Al-Anon are often found to be the greatest resources to the recovery of the alcoholic and spouse. They not only stop the active addiction process, they offer an on-going recovery process that becomes a satisfying lifestyle to those who follow their Twelve Steps and Traditions. What is particularly beneficial about Al-Anon as a resource is that it addresses and ultimately affects the basic issues of not talking, not feeling, not trusting, guilt, control and isolation, the group spokesman said.

There's a new kind of retirement setting awaiting you at Charles Gardens. It's the independent, enriching and affordable life you deserve, free from daily worries and filled with the company of good friends.

Charles Gardens is a retirement community for people who may need limited assistance. The gracious one-story complex of cedar, stone and glass is located in a residential setting featuring the quiet privacy and serenity so vital to a carefree retirement living. Yet we're just minutes away from churches, shopping, entertainment and complete medical facilities for peace of mind.

And because you don't want to sacrifice the financial security you've attained, there are no endowment or front-end fees — just a single, affordable monthly rental. This affordable fee provides you with limited-assistance living in a private, comfortable apartment. Each apartment features wall-to-wall carpeting, freshly painted walls, and drapes. There are several models to choose from: either the efficient alcove and the studio models or the more spacious one-bedroom style.

- Included at no additional cost are:
- Three Meals a Day
  - All Utilities
  - Television Hook-Ups
  - Emergency Call System
  - 24-Hour Security
